Subject: Can I get some info of sites for learning Photography --bazillions of replies

Here is a question I found on the <http://www.cambridgeincolour.com/> website forum page. It's a learning community for photographers from Cambridge University, England. (Note: They don't say, "You...;" they say, "One... .") Most people in the forum gave stupid advice like "just get out and do it, man." However, the one respondent below really went all out as you can see all the sites he suggested.

This is the question that elicited the following list of Photography learning sites:
Can I get some info of sites for learning Photography?

Today's digital photographer is very lucky to have extensive Internet support and learning sites. Here are just some sites which I have used over the years. ENJOY:
